CRIMINAL

Written by practitioners for practitioners, our programmes cover criminal litigation, evidence and sentencing at every level. Whether you're a beginner starting out in police stations and magistrates' courts or a specialist exercising rights of audience in the higher and appellate courts, you'll focus on relevant legal, statutory and case law.

Our criminal programme covers all aspects of criminal litigation, evidence and sentencing at every level; from beginner to specialist, from those starting out in police stations and the Magistrates' Courts to those exercising rights of audience in the higher and appellate courts. Criminal courses at BPP are written by practitioners for practitioners. In every course, careful attention is given to the legal, statutory and case law underpinning the relevant aspects of a criminal case.

Current programmes incorporate all recent developments originating from the implementation of the Criminal Justice Act 2003, including the Corporate Manslaughter and Corporate Homicide Act 2007, the Policing and Crime Act 2009, The Coroners and Justice Act 2009 and the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008.
